The Times' Daily Short Story.

A Story In Four Letters

(Original.) College student sits in his room smoking and writing letters.

First letter, Percy Walker to his uncle, Samuel Walker:

"My Dear Uncle—I write this my fortnightly letter to you to tell you that I am still doing very well in my classes—studying hard, devoting my whole time to my college duties. I haven't missed a lecture so far this term. You know, I am very fond of athletics, but remembering your advice to be careful about letting sports interfere with my studies I have hung up the racket and the golf stick, containing myself with poring over books.
It is very hard now that the spring days are on to see the fellows going out in field costume for practice; but, remembering your valued advice, I resist the temptation.

"Then, too, I have taken advantage of your warnings about drinking and smoking. Cold water is good enough for me, and as for smoking, the smell of tobacco makes me sick.

"I hope you and my aunt continue in your usual good health and that your eyesight has improved. Tell Aunt Caroline that I am taking all the spring medicines she sent me. I am really quite fond of the herb tea, and the liver mixture is doing wonders for me. Tell her that I am heeding her advice not to throw off my overcoat too early in the spring and not to go out on damp ground without my rubbers. The muffer she so kindly sent me at Christmas time I have worn constantly all winter.

"Be assured, my dear uncle, of my affection for you and my aunt and believe me your devoted nephew.

"PERCY."

Second letter, Percy Walker to his lancee, Miss Ruth Stevens:

"Dearest Ruth—Have just written uncle, and now comes the delight of writing to you. (Stop till I light a pipe.) I have to tell you the glorious news that I am first in winter practice in tennis and have won a place in the university crew. I've had more time for sports this term because I've chosen elective studies that don't interfere—the lectures, I mean—with the hours for practice. I am having a hard time in the spring examinations and for the last week have been 'bawling' night and day. I hope to slip through—if my ponies don't go back on me—but regret that the confinement and lack of exercise may 'throw me' in my candidacy for a place in the football team.

"By the bye, I was forgetting to tell you that I gave 'a wine' in my room last week, at which two baskets of champagne were consumed. There were twelve of us, each man drinking two bottles. The gang was too high mucky muck for pipes, so I had to buy a box of cigars. This took my last dollar, and uncle's next check isn't due for two weeks. I wish I dared ask the old rooster for an extra. He'd send it quick enough, but it would give me away. I'm telling him I have only term and hash bills to pay, and he knows my allowance is plenty for that.

"Mind, sweetheart, when you see uncle to tell him that I've taken a prize.
It's for singles in tennis, but he'll think it's for a thesis in Greek. And tell Aunt Caroline that I've been invited to take the superintendency of the Sunday school at the Third Presbyterian church. They'll consider me too modest to write them these things and will think all the more of them coming from you. Goodbye, love. With a billion kisses, your loving

Enter a gang of students to discuss the makeup of the baseball team for the coming season. When they leave the letter writer is about to leave, when, seeing his letters, he puts them in envelopes and hurriedly addresses them. Then he runs after the athletes.
Third letter, Miss Ruth Stevens to Percy Walker:

"Dearest Percy—You naughty boy!
You have sent me by mistake a letter to your uncle. (Great Scott, I must have sent her letter to uncle!) Oh, how I laughed when I read it! (For heaven's sake, it's no laughing matter.) You ought to be ashamed of yourself. You 'devoting your whole time to your studies.' Cold water good enough for you! 'The smell of tobacco makes you sick.' Then those 'spring medicines' your aunt sent you.
You know you never wear an overcoat or rubbers and seldom a hat.

"I think you'd better go back to school and learn to write. It was all I could do to read your letter. You must be more careful. Some day you'll be sending one of your letters to me to your uncle."

Soliloquy: That's just what I have done. Ruth stares me in the face.
Uncle will stop the funds, and I'll have to leave college. And that when I've just got where I wanted to get on the teams. Well, goodbye, alma mater. I go to some sweatshop or other, where I'll have to come down to fagging other people's filthy lucre.

Fourth letter, Samuel Walker to his nephew:

"Dear Percy—Yours of the 11th inst. received. Your handwriting is so bad that I can't read it. I suppose it is a request for money, so I inclose a check for $100. Your affectionate UNCLE.

"P. S.—Don't go out of your room if you can help it on these damp spring mornings. There is a great deal of pneumonia about."

Soliloquy: By thunder! What an estimate! HOWARD B. TURNER.

prettier than the scrawny peacock or ruffian plumes that have become so common.

Marabou is worn as if it were ostrich plumes, and a giant buckle and a long chiffon veil form the entire trimming of more than one fashionable hat.

A perky little turban of dark blue felt has a band of gold embroidered braid around the crown. At the back above and below this band peeps a little frill of closely plaited sage green velvet ribbon. A wing of blue and green ornaments the right side, springing from a buckle of blue and gold enamel.

In the new hats the shape's the thing, and the trimming is artistically arranged according to individual taste.
The bolero illustrated is in white caracal, trimmed with black velvet and buttons of wrought silver.

LIBERALS DETERMINED

To Carry Their Schemes—Education and Trade Bills Must Pass—To Treat
Suffragettes Better; Fears Making "Martyrs."

London, Nov. 2.—The House of Lords continues to make far-reaching changes in the education bill. Clause two was completed last night, after radical alterations, mostly by large opposition majorities. There is a distinct atmosphere of tension in the upper house. It has apparently been determined that the ministry will not tamely submit to the Lords. This was indicated by President of the Board of Trade Lloyd-George, who, speaking at Spaulding last night, declared that the work of "re-editing" the bill would terminate in a way probably far from agreeable to the House of Lords, a majority of whom were endeavoring to establish the principle of compulsory religion to which the country would not submit. It was absolutely intolerable, said Mr. Lloyd-George, that the House of Lords should override the decision of the people at the last election, and the government was determined to persevere with the bill. The people had outgrown the old system of catechisms and the old teachings that they were to be humble and lowly before their betters.
They would no longer be content with lessons in class humility.

To Study West Indian Cotton-Growing.

Winston Spencer Churchill, the parliamentary secretary of the Colonial Office, is going to the West Indies at about Christmas to study the resources of the islands, especially the prospects of extending cotton growing, with the viewpoint of possible government aid.
The Duke of Marlborough and Sir Alfred Jones, president of the Liverpool Chamber of Commerce, and others interested in the islands will accompany Mr.
Churchill.

Will Treat "Suffragettes" Better.

Although public opinion favors teaching the suffragettes a lesson, the action of the authorities in treating as common criminals the women who created the disturbance in the lobby of the House of Commons on Oct. 23 threatens to raise the prisoners to the level of martyrs and to secure them a measure of public sympathy which they would never obtain otherwise. Some of them are of gentle birth and bringing up. One is the daughter of the late Richard Cobden. The harsh treatment of all has aroused an outcry and indignant protest.

EARLE'S FINANCIAL MIRACLE.

Receiver Puts Looted Real Estate Trust Company on Its Feet Again.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 2.—Under the presidency of George H. Earle, Jr., the Real Estate Trust company of this city, which failed on August 28, reopened for business yesterday.

The company succumbed because of financial irregularities on the part of Frank K. Hipple, its president, who committed suicide. Mr. Earle was then appointed receiver.

More than $600,000 was deposited yesterday in the first hour of business.

Mr. Earle has accomplished what men of long experience consider almost a miracle, in fact, it being the first case on record in this state where a big banking concern, looted of its assets, has been rehabilitated in so short a time, and have the unanimous consent of its creditors.

WILL OF BIGGEST LAND OWNER.

That of William Scully Filed in Washington.

Washington, Nov. 2.—The will of William Scully, otherwise known as "Lord" Scully, said to be the largest owner of real estate in America, was filed here today for probate. The document was executed April 22, 1901. All his lands, none of which are outside the United States, are devoted absolutely to his wife E. Angela Scully. Mr. Scully disinherits his three daughters—Mary, Julia and Kathleen—in language as follows:

"I leave my three daughters by my first wife, Mary and Julia (both of whom, as I hear, have been married) and Kathleen, and to their child, children and their descendants and each of them nothing whatever, my will and meaning being absolutely and entirely to disinherit them and their descendants. I do this for superabundant reasons, which I forbear to particularize here."
